A refined architectural transformation has reimagined this c.1890 terrace into a light-filled inner-city residence of genuine substance, positioned within a tightly held pocket between Redfern and Green Square. Designed with intent, the home draws natural light deep into its core through a series of well-placed skylights, while clean contemporary lines and a considered layout create a seamless transition from the expansive living domain to a covered outdoor entertaining space and private rear yard. The result is a home that feels both open and private, calm yet highly functional.

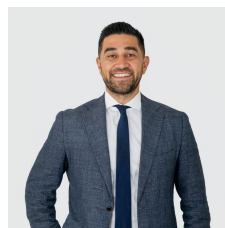

Heritage character has been carefully balanced with modern execution, delivering three large bedrooms, two
